Summary: After 27 years, it's time to go back to Derry and finish what the Loser Club had started. But this time, one of their own has brought something along with him. Something, that not even Pennywise will be prepared for.

Fear Itself Trailer

Iconic Audio - "Run Like Hell"

X

"When you're a kid, you think the world revolves around you."

A group of kids could be seen riding down the street on their bikes.

"You think you'll always be protected and cared for."

The same kids playing together in a quarry, having fun and laughing together.

"Then, one day, you realize that's not true."

A wall covered in missing children signs.

Because when you're a kid, the monsters see you as weaker. You don't even know they're getting closer.

A bright red balloon floating down a dark hallway.

"Until it's too late."

The balloon popped, revealing a demonic looking clown with glowing yellow eyes and mouth covered in blood. A wide, sadistic grin stretching on its face.

In his apartment, Eddie Brock snapped awake in a cold sweat.

X

"Is something wrong Eddie?" Anne asked in concern.

"Just haven't been sleeping well is all." Eddie replied with a smile that didn't reach his eyes.

Flash memories of a young Eddie with his friends, battered and bloody while facing down the deadly being that had been hunting them.

X

"How did you keep these memories from us?" Venom asked, sounding hurt as he looked at his host for an explanation.

"It's that town," Eddie explained, "The farther away you get, the fuzzier it becomes."

"...Then how are you remembering now?"

A phone ringing brought symbiote and host's attention to the front.

"Hello?" Eddie asked after picking it up.

"Eddie? It's Mike Hanlon..."

A young girl walks into a dark alleyway, only to come face to face with a grinning Pennywise.

"It's happening again..."

X

The Loser Club standing together, hand-in-hand in a circle as they made their oath in the event 'It' returned.

The now adult group sitting around a table with drinks in hand.

"So, Eddie, what have you been up too?" asked Beverly.

Venom tearing through a group of thugs. Throwing several against walls while biting off the heads of others.

"Few odd jobs here and there." Eddie replied while taking a drink from the bottle in his hand.

X

"We all made an oath." said Mike. "We didn't stop it."

"Pennywise..." Beverly whispered shakily.

Eddie could feel Venom stir within his body.

"We can't let it happen again."

X

An older Bill, chasing a young boy into a house of mirrors with the lights flickering.

"For 27 years, I've dreamt of you."

The losers standing in front of the old Nebolt house.

"I CRAVED you."

X

Eddie running along rooftops in pursuit of something in the shadows below.

"I missed you!"

X

Richie looking into the air to see Pennywise floating overhead holding a large cluster of red balloons.

"And now, you've come!"

X

Eddie stood in the middle of the road in the rain, leering down the street where Pennywise grinned back at him.

"Time to float, Eddie." the clown hissed.

"Not this time you son of a bitch!" the host shouted before transforming with a loud roar.

X EVIL x

Bill trying to kick a window open.

X HAS MET X

The group walking down a sewer tunnel together.

X IT'S MATCH X

"What are you?!"

Pennywise roared, claws exploding out of his gloves while his teeth elongated.

X

"We are Venom!"

The symbiote roared back, his own claws extending.

"And you're going down Clown!"

Venom and Pennywise fighting viciously in a dark cave while the other losers looked on in shock and horror.
